respect to the proximity of that power which may alone of all other powers e used to trample out disorderly dispositions on he one side or on the other. This resolution was specially one in which the Senate should leave it to the reason, the prudence, the discretion of the President as to furnishing the information. It ould be left to the President-to say whether this publication would be compatible with the public interest. The Senator from Ohio (Mr. Thurman) desired the Senate to direct the President touch-ing the army, of which he was Commander-in-In conclusion, Mr. Conkling moved to amend the resolution by inserting, after the word requested," "if in his judgment not incompatible with the public interest."

Mr. SHERMAN, (rep.) of Ohio, inquired if the mendment would preclude an objection.

The Vice-President inquired if there was any ection to the consideration of the resolution at be present time. Severai Senators-"Oh, no, don't object."

No objection being made, the Vice President ansounced that the resolution was before the Sente, the pending question being an amendment of

THE USAGE OF THE SENATE. Mr. THURMAN said he was familiar with the neage of the Senate long before the Senator from New York (Mr. Cenkling) was. In respect to sereign affairs it had always been the usage to use words moved by the Senator from New York, but in time of profound peace a simple resolution of inquiry, as it was domestic affairs, was not left to the discretion of the President, for him to anower according to his will or pleasure. This resotion related to what had already taken place. It was a question of fact, and there was no possible way by which the President could prejudice the public interests by answering it. If the intere in Louisiana matters did take place, the Senate could ask the President to tell it by what hority of law it aid take place. The Senate had the right to request the information, and if there be any reason why the President should not furnish it, it was for him to communicate that fact to the Senate; or, if he deemed it proper, he could send it to the Senate under the seal of secrecy, to be considered in executive session. PRECEDENTS OF STATE TROUBLES.

Mr. EDMUNDS, (rep.) of Vt., inquired if the Senater (Mr. Thurman) could name a precedent where the words submitted by the Senator from New York (Mr. Conkling) had been omitted from a reso-Mr. THURMAN replied he could name a hundred

If he had time to search the records. He did not think it was for him, hat in hand, to bow before the President and say it was for him to exercise is judgment. Louisiana was not the only State in which trouble had occurred in reference to the organization of a Legislature. In Onio on one ocsion there were for two weeks or more two bodies, both claiming to be the Legislature of the State; but, thank God, they had no fraudulent Returning Board. They had not descended to that depth of perdition. If Martin Van Buren, who was on President, had sent the military to interfere in that legislative conflict his troops would never ave left Columbus alive. In Pennsylvania also there had been a similar instance, and how would the people of that State feren? What would not be tolerated in Massaetts, Onio and Pennsylvania for a single moment was now the case in Louisiana. He desired oisting an illegal Governor upon the people of ouisiana, all liberty and all law in that State was to perish. He wanted to know who it was that called into use the army of the United States to organize the Legislature of Louisiana. He did not ant this matter decided by clamor or tumuit. There would be a tumultuous spirit in New York, Onio or Michigan if either of those States were fering from the same cause.

Mr. CONKLING read from various precedents to show that the custom had been to request the President, if not incompatible with the public inerest, to inform the Senate, &c. Mr. Morron, (rep.) of Ind., favored the amend-ent of Mr. Conkling. He said the Senator from Ohio (Mr. Thurman) urged the resolution as if it were in the nature of a mandate, when the very language of the resolution was, "The President of the United States is hereby requested," &c. If the in organizing the Legislature in New Orleans, let it have the whole story, and this could be done | that twice that number might be requisite. If so, by amending the resolution so as to have the President send to the Senate any information he has in regard to the evidence of an armed organ-Lousiana hostile to the government; to state what the President had done for the preservaof the fact that murder had been rampant in Louisiana; in view of the fact that these very men who surrounded the Legislature were covered with blood and ready to commit fresh murders.

Mr. Hows. (rep.) of Wis., supported the amendment of the Senator from New York (Mr. Conkling). He saw no objection to having the Prestfurnish the information, and had no donot that it would be furnished. It would promote the public interest instead of prejudicing it. DANGERS OF CARSARISM.

Mr. SAULSBURY, (dem.) of Del., said there mad been federal interference in Louisiana. He hoped the time had not come when a Clesar might wiothe himself in purple and bid defiance to the American people. In the elections last fall these very usurpations in the Southern States had much so do in casting the ballot as it was against the party in power.
REPUBLICAN THREATS.

Mr. Logan, (rep.) of lil., said when colored men were murdered in Louisiana. no voice was raised on the democratic side of this Chamber to challenge the wrong perpetrated. He charged that these murders were committed by the democrats. Had the Senator from Delaware (Mr. Saulsbury) became the Brutus of this day to tear the purple robes from Cæsar that the country might applaud? He (Mr. Logan) was as much in favor of having information before the Senate as any one here, but he desired to warn his iriends on the other side of the Champer that they must make their friends stop their murders. If they did not they would be made to stop, and the armies of the United States would be used to stop them. Those who stood by those murderers were no better than those who committed the crime. (Here there was a slight demonstration toward applause in the gallery, but it was promptly ecked by the Vice President.)

Mr. THURMAN said he had been asked to point out precedents where the words suggested by the Senator from New York (Mr. Conkling) were emitted from the resolutions of inquiry, and he nuoted several, among them one submitted by Mr. Edmunds, in 1868, requesting the President to inform the Senate whether he had established military departments, &c.

Mr. EDMUNDS-Did any one raise the point that sne words, "If not compatible with the public

Mr. THURMAN-Why, nobody imagined that the Benator from Vermont could offer a resolution not in due form (laughter). He next quoted from a resolution submitted by Mr. Morrill, (rep.) of Maine, in 1874, in reference to the occupation of the Indian Territory, and said he was not here to defend these violations of the constitution and law by talking of murders, assassinations, &c. en the cause of these crimes came to be known the American people would see that there were

Mr. Bogy, (dem.) of Mo., said he was not jan apologist for murder and disturbance, but he did not see how the people of Louisiana could submit quietly to all the outrages heaped upon them-(applause in the gallery, which was promptly checked by the presiding officer).

ARE WE TO HAVE LIBERTY? gunds said it was high time that the peopie of this country-and by that he meant the whole people, including those who have become inder the recent amendments to the constitution-should know whether they are to have liberty, or, to use a Western and a demoeratic phrase whether they are to be "frozen ator from Ohio gently calls nomicide. He would tell the Senator that the thirteenth, fourteenth and fitteenth amendments to the constitution of the United States were intended to be and be as firmly planted in practice in this country as they are now in theory. The people of this country would not see thousands and tens of thousands of citizens made the victims of assassination merely because they wished to assert their constitutional rights. An honest and an injured man in any State should have the right to call upon his government for protection. If it should turn out that these very men who were being defended on the opposite side of the House to-day were the aggressors in the South, he hoped all these declarations about despotisms and Cæsarisms would be taken back. He then read the telegram from General Sheridan, published in the morning papers, and said that the testimony of that officer was entitled to weight. Continuing his argument, he said he had always been taught that the protection of human life and human liberty was the chief duty of government. DEFENCE OF THE SOUTHERN PROPLE.

Mr. THURMAN said he did not see what the Ku Kiux outrages had to do with the subject matter before the Senate. Senators could denounce the people of the South as assassins; call them Ku Kiux and all such choice words from the radical vocabulary, but he did not see what that had to do with the fact that the army of the United States had been used in violation of all law. Crime had been committed in New England; people had been hung there without jury, but that did not make all the people of that section crim-inals. The army of the United States had been used in Louisiana without authority of law to determine who were memoers of the Legislature a to organize it, not by lawin means but by the bayonet. If the President of the United States were to overthrow to-morrow any Southern State government he would he defended by the same cry of Ku Klux. White League, murder, &c. That would not do. The time had passed when a plain violation of the constitution and law could be thus excused. The dominant pary tried that on last fall, when it set up a Southern outrage mill, with the Attorney General as chief milier; but the people of the country rejected the product of that mill. It was the duty of Congress to harmonize the people of the whole country and not to produce sectional havred by constantly preaching that the people of one section are assassins and murderers. What warrant had the Senator from Vermont (Mr. Edmunds) for charging that the people of Louisiana were assassing and murderers? Because some lives were lost there, did that fact make the people of the whole State assassins?

Mr. Monton said he welcomed this resolution, but he wanted it enlarged so the whole truth could be told. It would afford an opportunity to contradict the ten thousand hes from Louisiana. What evidence was there that the conservatives carried the election there except the word of the White

Pending discussion on Mr. Thurman's resolution the Senate, at twenty minutes to five P. M.,

CIVIL RIGHTS AND CIVIL WAR. In the House the subject of Louisiana's woes was at one time quite as vehemently discussed as in the Senate. It was, however, indirectly brought to the surface by the efforts of Mr. Butler (rep.), of Mass., to reach the Civil Rights bill, by proposing to go to the Speaker's table, a project which the democrats opposed with all their skill in hifoustering. The informal and variegated debate continued for three hours.

Pending a motion to go into Committee of the Whole on the Army Appropriation bill, Mr. BUTLER moved to go to business on the Speak-er's table, and gave notice that his object was to get at the Senate Civil Rights bill and move to substitute for it the bill agreed to by and move to substitute.

the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. Randall (dem.), of Pa., failed to see the necessity of going to business on the Speaker's table, and Mr. BECK (dem.), of Ky., gave indications of a determination to fin-buster, when the SPEAKER ruled that the first question was on Mr. Wheeler's motion to go into Committee of the Whole on the Army bill.

By a vote of 99 yeas to 93 nays the House went into Committee of the Whole (Mr. Wilson, of lowa, in the chair, on the Army Appropriation bill. THE STANDING ARMY.

On the subject of the clause limiting the strength of the army to 25,000, Mr. ELDRIDGE, (dem.) of Wis., remarked that there were 1,800 now engaged Mr. WHEELER, (dem.) of N. Y., did not know but the government would furnish them. He hoped, however, that question would be settled irrespec tive of the army, because it would be a sorry day for the Republic when the army might be depended on to maintain beace.

Mr. ELDRIDGE-The gentleman should take that into consideration in making up his appropriation

Mr. WHEELER-I believe that with 25,000 troops the government can keep even Louisiana in order. Mr. Beck. (dem.) of Ky., objected to proceeding with the bill until the House had before it th report of the Secretary of War, showing what had been done with the army during the year. Mr. WHEELER recognized the justice of the objection. The report had been made but had not yet been distributed. He therefore moved that the committee rise.

FILIBUSTERING AGAINST THE CIVIL RIGHTS BILL. The committee rose and thereupon Mr. BUTLER, of Massschusetts, renewed his motion to proceed to the ousiness on the Speaker's table for the pur pose of getting at the Civil Rights bill. After a couple of hours spent in flibustering an effort was made at a compromise. Mr. BUTLER remarked that if the Senate bill was the point of objection ne would try to remedy that, but if the Civil Rights bill was the point of objection, and if the consideration of it in any form was resisted the question might be as well fought out now as at any other time, ("Good, good !" from the republican members.) If the minority had the power to prevent the majority from considering any Civil Rights bill it was of no consequence what kind of a civil rights bill was fought

CIVIL WAR IN LOUISIANA. Mr. Cox. (dem.) of N. Y., remarked that while the House was fillbustering the soldiers of the United States were throttling the sovereign State of Louisiana, and Congress was quite indifferent to IL (Sneers from some republican members.) If they did not want to see another civil war they should call off the federal bayonets from Louisiana. The Civil Rights bill, if passed, would only make the trouble worse and worse. For one he would not bein the Judiciary Committee, which had failed to report on the Louisiana question. Let that committee settle that question properly and give peace to the South, and then the civil rights of the people in the North and South would be better taken care of.

Mr. Burner declared that he was as anxious to "get at" Louisiana as any man on earth. (Laughter and ciapping of hands.) But a committee of the House had been sent there, and he did not propose to consider the subject before the report of that committee was received.

Mr. Randall.-Then why does your President in-

Mr. Cox-Take off your mintary.

THE PRESS ACCUSED OF PALSEHOOD. Mr. BUTLER—I do not propose to make any attack on the defence in regard to the affairs in Louisiana, simply on the lying telegrams of the Associated Press or on any report except the report of our committee, and when that comes in I will stay here day and night until peace is given to Louisiana. I gave it peace once and I should be glad to do thonce more. (Clapping of hands by the republican members and ansering remarks by the democrata.)

Mr. GOX—Why did not the gentleman do it then so as to make the peace permanent. If he did—well, then, he has undone it all ever since.

Mr. RANDALL asked Mr. Butler whether he justified the interference of the military in New Orleans and the expulsion from the Legislature of men who were duly elected.

Mr. BUTLER replied that he did not justify the expuision from the legislature balls of men who were duly elected, but he did justify the throwing out of intruders voting themselves into a Legislature to make laws for people who would not elect them. A republican form of government could not be guaranteed if intruders were allowed into the legislative nails.

At this stage of the discussion Mr. Waddell, Mr. BUTLER-I do not propose to make any attack

Court against Generals Sheridan, Emory and De Trobriand, for $100,000 damages for ejecting him from his seat in the House of Representatives. A similar suit was filed by George D. Kelly. who was also ejected.

DISCUSSION IN THE CABINET.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5, 1875. The Cabinet met at noon to-day and was in session until very nearly three o'clock P. M. The condition of affairs in Louisiana was a subject of much discussion, though not with a view to giving any additional orders or instructions to the United States military authorities at New Orleans than have been already issued for their guidance. The administration is well satisfied that General Sheridan is in every way competent to carry out the ideas of the general government respecting whatever participation it may be thought necessary for it to take regarding agains in Louisiana. These, as now understood, contemplate an amendment of the report of the recent Returning Board and maintaining the authority of the Legis-lature reported elected by that Board. It was not lature reported elected by that Board. It was not considered necessary to send any telegrams to General Sheridan, nor had any despatches been received from that officer up to the adjournment of the Cabinet meeting this afternoon.

A protest against the action of the United States troops was received by the President from Mr. Wiltz, which was read at the meeting.

In addition to the discussion on Louistana matters the new phase of the political movements in Spain was a matter of some conversation, but only as a subject of great interest to all nations, and not with any significance beyond that fact. Several affairs of routine importance were attended to, and there was a very lavorable discussion regarding the treaty with the Sandwich Islands.

THE CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATION.

Naw Orleans, Jan. 5, 1875.

TESTIMONY OF GOVERNOR RELLOGG.

At two o'clock the Congressional Committee repaired to the State House and took the testimony of Governor Kellogg with regard to the orders upon which the military had acted on Monday. He stated that no Saturday he received an official report of the acting Chief of Polico that an attempt would be made on Monday forcibly to install persons whom the official returns did not show to have been elected. He transmitted this letter to General Emory with a request that such disposition be made of United States forces as would prevent a collision and bloodshed. On the following day General H. J. Campbell, who had been assured under General Longstreet to the command of the State forces protecting the State India approaches, was sent with a personal letter of authorization to confer with General Emory on this subject. He returned with General Emory on this subject. He returned with General Emory on this subject. He returned with General Colock an number of members rushed to the Legislature. Setween twelve and one o'clock an number of members rushed excitedly into the Executive office and scated that Mr. Witz and others had violently setzed possession of the Hall of Reoresentatives, that Mr. Witz had declared himself Speaker protein, and had thrust from the platform the old clerk of the House, who, by law, was required to call the roll of members, as certified by fifty-two of the members, being a majority of the legal members on the roll call, was presented to him stating that the other forty-nine members and a number of other persons had taken forcible possession of the hall, and had refused them the right to vote on the use of more than the state House, he required to call the roll of members and confirmed this statement. Susequently a statement signed by fifty-two of the members, being a majority of the legal members of other persons had taken forcible possession of the hall, and had refused them the right to vote on the questi

INDIGNATION IN ILLINOIS.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 5, 1875. There is considerable excitement here among politicians and others over the recent action of the United States military authorities in New

The Democratic State Central Committee, which is in session here to-day, have issued a call for a mass indignation meeting, to be held here tomorrow evening. The eall says that the administration, through the most facile of its military instruments, has dispersed the Legislative Assembly of a sovereign State and forced the representatives of the people from the halls of legislation at the point of the bayonet, and has given Louisiana over to her spoilers and plunderers, and that this action imports terror-ism of the whole South and its unholy subjugation ism of the whole South and its unnoly subjugation to party ends.

The committee call upon the people to rally and let the voice of their indignation sound through-out the land. Let them rise in their majesty, and, asserting their rights, put down the usurpers.

BUYING THE GOSPEL.

The annual auction of pews in Plymouth church took place in that building last evening. Shortly after six o'clock the house was lighted and thrown open, and in half an hour the whole edifice was crammed. The vast audience was composed of the regular members of the church, ladies and gentlemen, and a pretty extensive sprinkling of strangers. These latter were, of course, curiosity seekers, and their presence was readily detected, so different were they in appearance from the regular habitues of the church. For more than half an hour before the time appointed for the sale of seats a commotion was made in the halls and passage ways of the building by men who passed and fro, up and down hurriedly, talking together, making entries in little books and whispering and meeting and escaping from each other. Some lew ladies joined in this mysterious business, but many of them seemed to be advising and urging the men, and whispers and entries in the little books seemed to follow from their advice. It afterwards turned out that all the running and going and taiking was speculations on the result of the coming auction and the entries in the books were bets on both sides of the subject. Some were dopained that the proceeds would exceed the returns of last year, and others were doubtrul that their expectations on the point would be realized. A lew minutes before seven o'clock Mr. heecher made his appearance on the piatform in front of the organ and said:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—You need not look at the clock. The minister's watch is what we go by here. In January, 1850, this building was first opened for public worship. I remember well a remark of a gentieman friend of mine and connection of my family to a lady of his acquaintance. He took her that the novelty of this church would be worn off in sixty days. He now represents a part of the city in the congress of the nation; but although he has been a good business man he proved a bad prophet. We have gathered here in many times of great darkness, doubt, vicissitude and peril. I may how call advice. It afterwards turned out that all the (dem.) of N. C., objected to further debate, and the Speaker sustained the objection.

Mr. Scopiell, C. (rep.) of Pa., moved to adjourn, (Many republican members, "Oh, no; let us sit it out.")

Mr. BUYLER—We can just as well filibuster here to-morrow as to-day. We have been at it three to-morrow we can begin again.

The motion was carried, and the House, at four o'clock P. M., adjourned.

SUITS AGAINST THE GENERALS

New Obleans, Jan. 6, 1875.

James Jeffries, a member of the Legislature, has filed a suit in the United States Circuit Court against Generals Sheridan, Emory and and even leading journals in New York were recommending that a minister of this church should be

ROLLED IN THE DUST.

As a testimony of his offensive sentiments there was one stock that never went down in the market, and that was Gospel stock—the best stock that ever a man invested in. If I thought that you came to this house as a matter of iashion or merely for the sake of some intellectual enjoyment I should be ashamed to say a single word to encourage you. But I have the test of too many men—of thousands—that the Gospel preached in this house has not been preached to please merely, but to make men better; I have the testimony of your own experience that you have been in your business helped by religion, and the way in which you have gone through your sorrows in your family by the spirit of trust which you obtained here; that you had better ideas of citizenship and patriotism and live in God and love to man from coming here. I believe that that only leads you to come from year to year and purchase seats in this house where you may still have this bread of life. I will not allude to any of the circumstances which make our coming together this year beculiar. I have only to say in the language of the old psaimful, "I have never seen the righteous forsaken nor his seed begging bread." All through this painful period of im life, at a time when most men have earned the right to cease from labor and obtain the remuneration of a life spent in the public service I am unable to do so, at ceept this trial with patience, with cheer(uness and with that trust in God which I preach to you, and it is my desire to go through trouble in such a way as that I may not blush afterward when I preach to you how to bear trouble, how to carry sorrow. Mr. Beecher then took up a diagram of the house and explained how the seats would be disposed of. He informed the audience that their old auctioneer had been beaulied from them, but that another had stepped into his piace, and he brought the salesman forward.

THE BIDDING POR THE SEATS BOLLED IN THE DUST.

tion closed every one appeared to have got the pew sought after, and all went away comfortable and happy.

MARITIME MISCELLANY.

We are indepted to the purser of the steamship Columbus, from Havana, for favors.

Beig Shasta, from Richmond for Trieste, laden with tobacco, before reported, went ashore Nov 30, while in charge of a licensed pilot, between Umago and Salvoro Point. - he was got off the day following, after discharging 40 hids tobacco, and towed to Trieste. The vessel was not leaking Dec 8, and little damage was anticipated. She would commence discharging in two days and then go into dry dock for examination.

Beig Frances Jank, from Pernambuco, at Battimore 4th inst, before reported leaking, has never had more than fourteen inches of water in her hold, the pumps having kept it to that depth, bud it is believed none of ner cargo is damaged. The previous report said she would repair at Norfolk, Her cargo of sugar is consigned to Philadelphia account, but it was deemed more desirable that to Philadelphia amand, than for her to risk a sca trip to that port from Norfolk.

Beig Ennest, which arrived at Portland Jan 3 from Pernambuco, experienced heavy gales and lost most of her sails.
